

Dear Parents of child's name here,

We are off to a new year at the piano! I look forward to working with child's name here.

Piano success comes from daily visits to the piano and lots of repetition. It is a language that will eventually become second nature and a way of expressing emotions through music.

To support child name, I recommend finding at least one adult family member to take lessons too. When child name's parent or grandparent takes lessons as well, they can musically 'team up', support practicing, and play for each other during the week.

I offer a 10 week 'Experience the Piano' program starting date here. It is designed for adults, such as yourself. Over the course of 10 weeks, you'll learn to play a variety of pieces from classical to rock. There are a couple of group piano lessons with other adults included, to create even more community.

Families that play music together have a special bond. I hope you can join us.

Please forward this invitation to any family members that may be interested. I offer a 15% off family rate for additional students.

In harmony,

Teacher's Name
